

Organisational Design

Emergent Conditions Mapping

Resetting how organisations think and execute strategy - with a specific focus on leveraging disruption.

POWERED BY

fisher
LEADERSHIP

Emerging Conditions Mapping

We help leaders and their teams maintain professional momentum in complex business environments, without losing the things they value the most: their health, relationships and peace of mind.

Strategy in Action (SiA) is Resilient Futures' unique strategy framework – designed for leveraging opportunity and mitigating risk in fast-moving environments. In particular, SiA enables organisations, at scale and across all levels, to quickly formulate and execute timely and agile strategy in response to disruptive change.

All Resilient Futures work in support of organisational strategy development is based on teaching and coaching organisations in the application of SiA to support the activation of a refreshed strategic focus. Leaders, teams and key staff are guided through the process of aligning on the realities of their strategic context and then identifying priority areas of focus within that context. These priorities are then validated against an existing strategy or used to chart a new strategic direction.

Throughout this type of program, Resilient Futures also acts in both an objective observer and coaching capacity by providing feedback and critique regarding the overall quality of the thinking and outputs that drive the strategic focus.

Most critically, SiA facilitation helps organisations pivot their focus to strategy that leverages disruption.

Ideal for organisations that:

- Are in a current or perceive a future state of turbulent change as
- a result of known or emerging disruptive conditions.
- Are undergoing transformational change
- Want agile strategy and projects
- that deliver real outcomes
- Are seeking to innovate without a clear strategic framing for that work
- Value customer-centric transformation
- Have just been hit by a major change and need immediate action.

Get in touch to design your program:
1300 347 437 or email trobins@fisherleadership.com